

the CHIEF

A black and white photograph of a brick school building. The building has multiple windows and a central arched entrance. Several students are posed in front of the building: some are standing, and others are sitting on the grass. Bare trees are in the foreground, and an American flag is visible on the left. The title "the CHIEF" is overlaid at the top.

THE SENIOR CLASS
ETOWAH HIGH SCHOOL

Foreword

Once again the time has come for a group of Seniors to put aside their books and take their place in adult life, leaving behind the happy pattern of changing classes, club meetings, weiner roasts, basketball and baseball games, Junior-Senior Banquets, Mother - Daughter, Father - Son Banquets and Senior Plays.

We, the Senior Class of 1956, proudly, but somewhat sadly, leave behind this volume, our own version of our school annual, THE CHIEF, in hopes it will often remind you of us and our happy days here at Etowah.

Dear Teachers,

We, the Class of 1956, wish to dedicate to you, The 1956 Chief, as an endeavor to express our gratitude for your help during the twelve years it has taken us to achieve our present position.

We may not always have been as kind, obedient or appreciative as we should; but now as we look back on our school days, we realize that, without your patient understanding, your cheerful encouragement, your love and guidance - and your occasional discipline - we could never be here, on the threshold of life.

Sincerely,
The Senior Class

Dedication

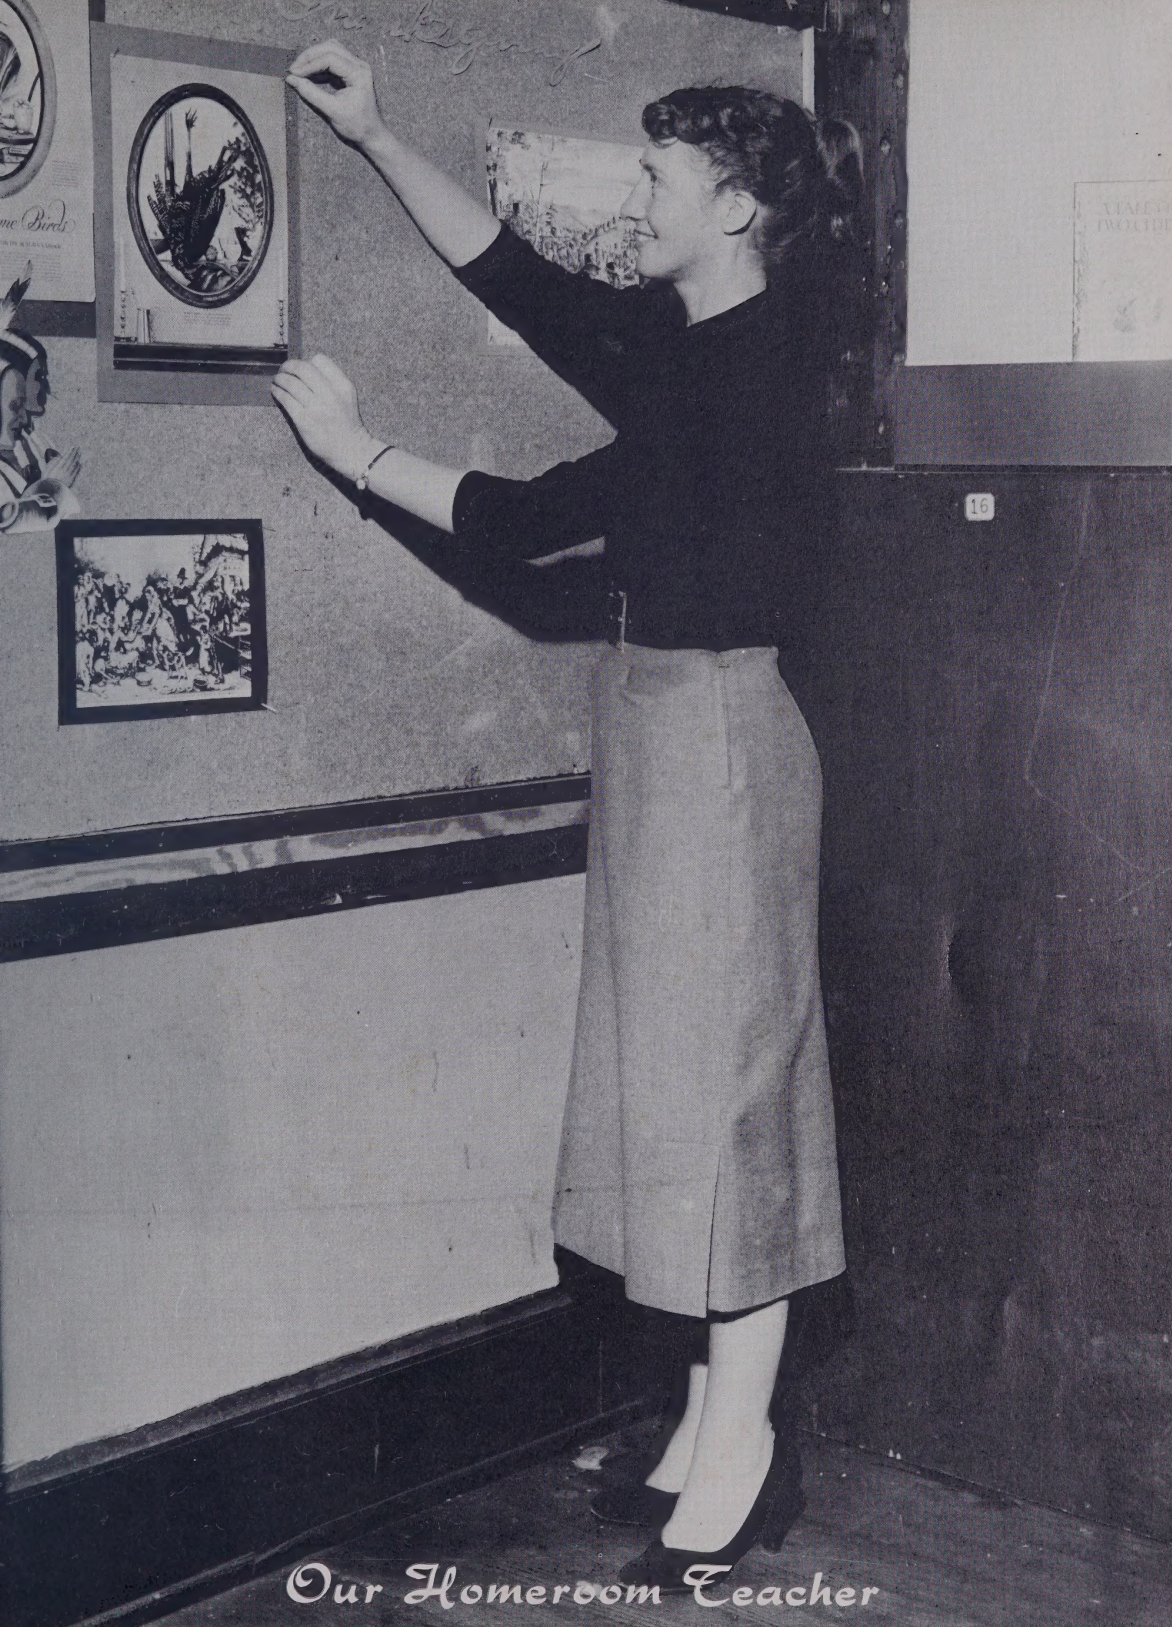

Principal's Message

"Time and tide wait for no man" and so another Senior Class reaches the close of twelve years of study and play together at Etowah School. The good times you have had, the disappointments as well as the joys you have shared with classmates and teacher friends will soon be cherished memories you will carry with you.

In my mind's eye I can visualize you through the years beginning as six-year-olds getting acquainted with a strange new world into elementary school, your Promotion Day Exercises at the close of your eighth grade, through four years of high school classes and activities. This annual will serve to keep these memories alive for each of us.

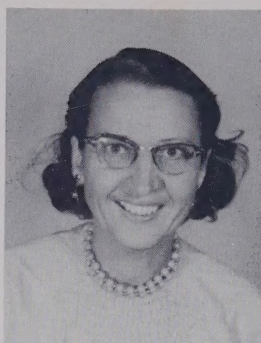

The faculty joins me in expressing our congratulations to you for reaching the climax of your school experience. Our very best wishes and fondest hopes go with each of you as you seek further education or employment in the business world. It is our prayer that something we have done along the way will aid you in having a well-adjusted, happy, successful life.

Class History

Twelve years ago a rocket took off, bound for the "Twelfth Planet of Education." On board this shining new rocket were Harold Allen, Joe Allison, Joyce Allison, Wanda Briggs, Bobby Drake, Minnie Hunsinger, Ruby Jones, Peggy McCombs, Jackie Newman, Clair Orr, Mary Ellen Ritter, Charles Robinson, Bud Stover, and Maymie Jo Summey. In charge of this excited crew was Mrs. Shuford, who took us safely to the second planet.

The second planet held for us new and exciting adventure. Fortunately, Mrs. Turner found us, and guided us to the third planet with a new girl, Vera Moody.

At first the third planet discouraged us, but Mrs. Combs came to our aid, and explained that we knew how to print, but now we must learn to write. We brought aboard one new student on this planet, Jimmy Phillips.

The fourth planet held for us a new subject, Geography. And Geography was really something--we were taught in detail about other countries and where they were located by Mrs. Parker, who with her love of birds showed us many an interesting hour.

On the fifth planet, we found a teacher whom we thought a little strange, for she liked arithmetic. This strange, but interesting woman, with her stories of her many trips, was Mrs. Keller.

On the sixth planet, we found much work, and pleasure awaiting us. And with the help of Mrs. Morgan we won our halfway battle to the twelfth planet.

From the seventh year we share many loving memories with our teacher, Mrs. Sitton, of hours spent on art work.

On the eighth planet we met another teacher who liked arithmetic, but she went in for more difficult problems such as algebra and geometry. She introduced us to the Audobon Club, which we enjoyed very much. This wonderful teacher was Miss Bessie Jordan. We took aboard two more new students, Freddie Parris and Joe White.

When we arrived on the ninth planet, Miss Curto came to our aid and explained that we were now entering into "High School," where we would change classes and have a different teacher for every subject. We liked this new routine, for it seemed to make time pass more quickly. It was on this planet that we decided to name our rocket "Old Faithful" because it had transported us safely on each planet.

On the tenth planet we were happy to see one of our dearest friends, Mrs. Sitton, come aboard once again. And unfortunately we lost two of our classmates, Minnie Hunsinger and Bobby Drake, but Margaret Johnson joined us. Just as we were cranking the dusty worn engine, we heard a squeaky little voice ask, "Is this the 'Old Faithful,' bound for the Twelfth Planet of Education?" We told him yes, and so Harry Byrd came through our portals.

As we landed on the eleventh planet we were all excited, for we had two important tasks before us. The first one was the Junior play. We presented "Wanted a Hero," which proved to be a success, and in the Spring of '55 we gave the Seniors a banquet with the theme, "Show Boat." Here two new students joined us: Charles Arrington and Sara Johnson, and Bobby and Minnie returned to us.

We did all of our senior tasks joyfully which were: making pictures, publishing the annual, and taking small trips. But deep in our minds we were all dreaded May, which would mark the end of our flight. But when our flight did come to an end we marched with our heads high, for we had accomplished a great thing--we had reached the first step in our goal. When we let our minds seek the future we feel a throb of fear creep in. For we are now on our own, in a Great Wide World, with God for our guide and our will to follow.

Last Will and Testament

We, the Class of 1956 of Etowah High School, in preparing to leave our cherished Alma Mater and enter the life beyond, wish to dispose of our worldly possessions in the following prescribed manner:

ARTICLE I

To the teachers and buildings we extend our sincere sympathy for the wear and tear we have brought upon you.

ARTICLE II

To the Class of 1957 we leave the job of putting out the CHIEF and our sunny dispositions.

ARTICLE III

To the Underclassmen we leave all our broken rubber bands, unfinished popsicles, spent matches, worn out books, bent lockers, and any other souvenirs we may have accumulated during our twelve years' stay on these premises.

ARTICLE IV

I, Harold Allen, leave my title of Most Dependable to Richard Ritter and my blue eyes to Jerry Strickland.

I, Joe Allison, bequeath my title of Most Original to Jack Crisp and my good grooming to Pete Corhn.

I, Joyce Allison, will to Eugenia Williams my title of Most Reserved and to Mary Jane Weese my sweet ways.

I, Charles Arrington, leave my witticisms to Jim McCall and my school bus to Genevieve Norris.

I, Wanda Briggs, hand down to Jean Cairnes my ball suit (good luck) and my height to Lou Ellen Owens.

I, Harry Byrd, bestow my title of Best All Around on my sister Margaret and my small feet on Douglas Gray.

I, Bobby Drake, leave my hatred for girls to Carl Barnett and my good looks to Kenneth Nicholson.

I, Minnie Hunsinger, transmit to Pat Bell my well-worn ball suit and my title of Wittiest to Janice Greer.

I, Margaret Johnson, bestow on my sister Mary my dependability and on Jeanette Nesbit my talent for acting.

I, Sara Lee Johnson, endow Mary Jon Tilley with my title of Best Looking and Susie Eubanks with my cheerleading.

I, Ruby Jones, bequeath my title of Most Original to my cousin Margaret Carolyn and my talent for skating to Johnnie Robinson.

I, Peggy McCombs, leave my love of dancing to my sister Mary Lou and my versatility to Jeannene Coston.

I, Vera Moody, give my friendliness to Joan Norton and my musical ability to Dot McCarron.

I, Jackie Newman, hand down to Dickie Connor my pleasant personality and to Gene Allison my title of Most Likely To Succeed.

I, Clair Orr, leave my title of Best All Around to my sister Margie and my quiet ways to Wanda Sumner.

I, Freddy Parris, transmit my studious ways to G. D. Allen and my medical ambitions to David Kilpatrick.

I, Jimmie Phillips, give my friendliness to Bobbie Cantrell and my dependability to Kenneth McCarron.

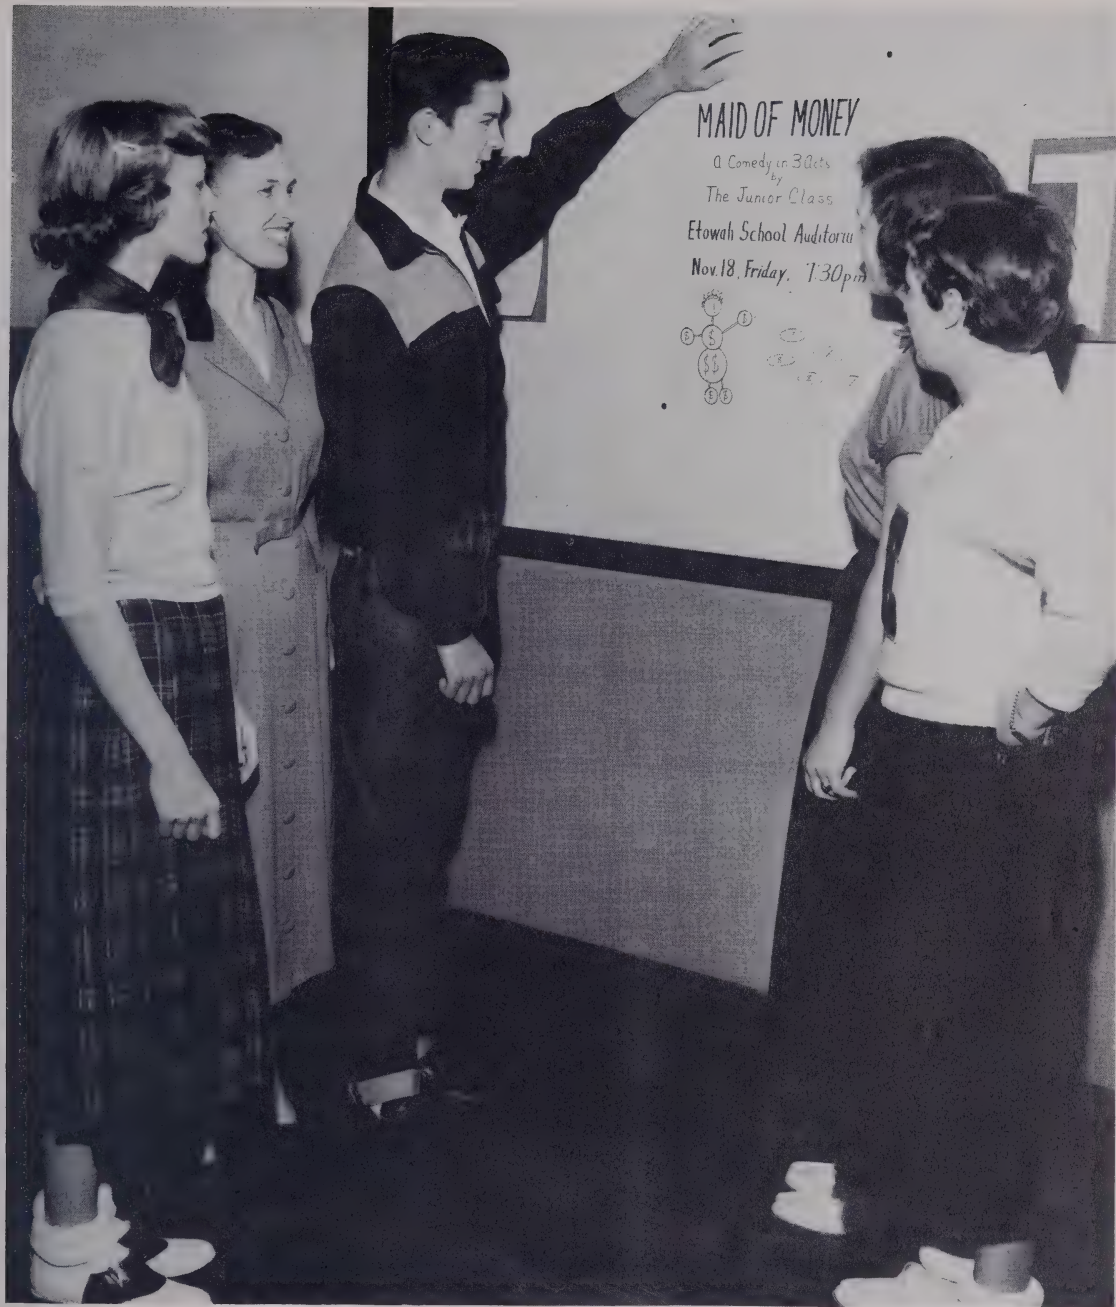

I, Mary Ellen Ritter, bestow on Bernice Dalton my title Most Likely To Succeed and my talkativeness on Norma Jean Dalton.

I, Charles Robinson, bequeath my patience to Zane McEntire and my title of Most Athletic to my brother, David.

I, Bud Stover, endow Donald Crowder with my singing ability and Mike Price with my versatility.

I, Maymie Jo Summey, leave my title of Most Studious to Dorothy Dalton, and my most prized possession, my basketball uniform to Margaret Byrd.

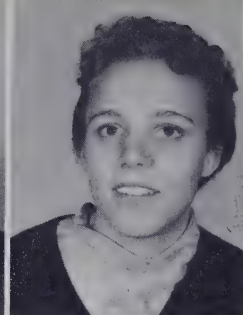

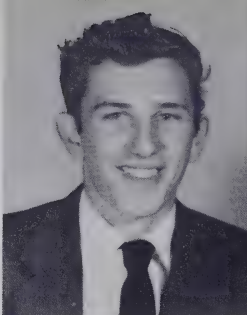

I, Joe White, will my title of most reserved to Lowell Fletcher and my curly hair to Vernon Huggins.
